Jury Finds Roberts Guilty Of Manslaughter

by Adoree Shortle-Echo staff writer

Cecil A. Roberts, charged with manslaughter in the December 6, 1972 shooting death of Leroy Dahl, Jr., was found guilty as charged by a special ury Tuesday afternoon.

The jury returned the guilty verdict efter less than an hour of deliberation at the conclusion of the two-day trail.

A total of ten witnesses were called to the stand to testify into the incident in which Dahl, a 19-year-old Bay St. Louis native, was shot and killed during a street-fight-with Roberts' son, Carl.:

Carl O. Talluto. 20-year-old witness to the shooting, testified in court Monday that he saw Roberts shoot Dahl point blank as Roberts attempted to break up Another eye witness, Kenny Ray Carver, 16, corroborated Talluto's testimony when Carver took the stand, saying that Roberts was holding the snubnosed .38 pistol in his hand, pointed at the sky, as Dahl and Roberts' son scuffled against Dahl's car. As Dahlbushed Carl Roberts away from himself Roberts lowered the pistol and fired. Talluto and Carver stated. The two youths were riding with Dahl and witnessed the entire incident.

In describing the shooting, Talluto said, "Mr. Roberts started hollering 'I didn't-shoot him. I didn't shoot him'. Leroy rubbed his chest and started to walk away from the car. Then he dropped to the ground. He never did say anything."

Bay Police Chief William Carbonette, called to the stand as a state's witness, described details leading up to the shooting from Roberts' statement to the police the night of the incident.

Carbonette testified that he had known Roberts, a Natchez native and plumber by trade, for about a year as a resident of Bay St. Louis. Roberts had joined the Bay police auxiliary about five months before the shooting, but had never worked as a patrolman. Carbonette said, other than assisting "at a couple of ballgames". Auxiliary police are not authorized to make arrests or work individually on patrol unless they have completed a five-week training course at the Gulfport police academy, he continued.

Under questioning by Assistant -District-Attorney-Harold-DeMetz,-Carbonette said Roberts told him the night of the shooting that Dahl had passed Roberts and his wife in their car on Old Spanish Trail "driving at an excessive rate of speed, almost sideswipping" the Roberts car. The Roberts' son, Carl and his wife Rose, were driving in their car ahead of the senior Roberts.

Roberts stopped Dahl a few blocks past Valena C. Jones school and took the youth's drivers license, telling him he would have to go to the police station to get it back.

bonette related, Dahl and Carl Roberts, who had stopped also, began fighting. Carl's mother got involved when she attempted to pull the two boys apart as they were wrestling on the ground. In his statement, Roberts told Carbonette that as he stooped over to break up the fight, he felt the pistol falling from his belt holster and as he grabbed it, the gun discharged, shooting Dahl in the center of his chest. When DeMetz asked Carbonette if Roberts was performing an official act while on duty with the police department, Carbonette answered "No".

Assistant Police Chief Douglas Williams and Auxiliary Chief Harold Heine, the first two officers on the scene, both testified that Roberts was so distraught after the shooting that he had to be taken to Hancock General Hospital where he was treated for shock.

Young Dahl was also taken to the hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

County Coroner Emile Piazza, the last state's witness to testify Tuesday morning, verified his original coroner's verdict that Dahl died from a gunshot wound in the chest, fired from Cecil Roberts' pistol.

Defense witnesses Carl and Rose Roberts, and both Cecil and Mrs. Roberts, called to the stand in Tuesday's proceedings, all gave incident up to the point at which Dahl was shot.

Each member of the Roberts family testified that the accused man grabbed for the falling gun, causing it todischarge accidentally, while the two young men were still fighting on the

Talluto and Carver, who said they

Dahl's car, both testified that the two vouths were on their feet, leaning against Carl Roberts' car. Dahl had his back to the car with a hammer lock hold on young Roberts who was between Dahl and his father. At that point, they stated, Roberts had the pistol in his right hand, pointed straight up.

Roberts pulled his wife away and called out to "break it up", Dahl pushed Carl Roberts aside and Roberts shot at Dahl, killing him.

Presiding Circuit-Judge Floyd Logan deferred sentence until July 27 in orderto allow state and defense attorneys to prepare a pre-sentencing report.

Don Breland, beach road contractor. was put on the carpet by county supervisors Monday when assistant county engineer Donn Murray accused Breland of running out of time on the

When Breland protested that he still had working days on the job, Murray retorted, "We've given you 15 extradays (over the 200 stipulated on the contract) and at the rate you're working, you'll still run out of time."

Murray predicted that Breland will have to pay liquidated damages on the job due to the contractor's erratic and inconsistant work schedule.

The matter came under discussion when Breland assured supervisors that his starting work on the revenue sharing funded county road project won't interfer with completion of the beach road.

He could have the beach road finished in two days, Breland stated, to which Murray answered heatedly, "You can't complete that job in two days. It'll take you two weeks or more." There are 150 yards of concrete to pour, Murray continued, which will require a minimum of 15 days. In addition, there are portions of the chainwail damaged by a recent storm which must be repaired, the engineer stated, adding, "It's been sitting there so long grass is growing on it!

Beat one supervisor Jerry Ladner also came under fire from board bers for his statements that the other supervisors had instructed Breland to halt the beach road work in order to repaye Nicholson Ave. Breland admitted to the group that no member of the board had so instructed him and that he had taken the action on his own

In a related action. Breland submitted for progress payment three invoices for work performed under the revenue sharing contract. The board approved for payment $7,810 on the Chapman Rd.: $1,150 for 60 vds. of clay gravel on the Lower Bay Rd.; $3,345 on the Bayou Caddy Rd. Ladner objected to payment until each road was com-

In other road business, supervisors voted to advertise for bids for work on several roads throughout the county, in the next phase of the revenue sharing road repair program.

A group of Shoreline Park residents presented a petition to the board, asking for another exit out of the Central Ave. section: that Central Ave. and First-St. be blacktopped; and that the Central Ave. bridge now under repair not obstruct the flow of water through the canal over which the bridge is built.

Beat five supervisor James Travirca informed the group that a culvert would ultimately be placed under the bridge and that consideration would be given to hard surfacing those roads which have been accepted by the county. The meeting was recessed until

Jaycees Ask Help For Youth Center

The Jaycee-operated Youth Center on Ulman Ave, has been condemned as unsafe by the fire department and has become inadequate as a facility for the current youth program, Jaycees James Chiniche and Charles Parker told the Bay St. Louis city council Monday

A contingent of Bay St. Louis Jaycees accompanied Chiniche and Parker, who supervise the Youth Center, to the council meeting in an appeal to the city for help in relocating the facility.

Youth Center activities have been expanded by Jaycees in an effort to provide area teenagers a much needed supervised recreational center, Chiniche stated. The center is open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., staffed by University of Southern Mississippi students working under the Off Campus Work Study Program, through which the federal government pays 80 percent of the students' salaries.

The center and all facilities are open free of charge to area teenagers, except refreshments sold at the snack bar, that revenue used to defray center expenses, From 25 to 50 teenagers come to the center each day, Parker said.

Dances with live bands are scheduled every Friday night and the Bay police department often sponsors a Saturday night dance, Chiniche added. He said attendance at the dances regularly averages about 200 teenagers which causes serious overcrowding in the

The front door is the only exit from the room where the dances are held and in the event of a fire, the band would be trapped at the far end-of-the room, according to Assistant Fire Chief Robert Andrews, who recently made a routine inspection of the building. State fire codes require seven square feet per person for safety which constitutes another violation during a crowded dance, Andrews explained.

Another inadequacy in the 15-yearold frame building is the absence of heating and cooling units, so "the kids suffocate in the summer and freeze in the winter", Chiniche related.

The building was once a lunchroom and is poorly designed for use as a recreational center.

Jaycees are anxious to maintain the center as a full time year-round facility but do not have sufficient funds to assume the cost of construction of another building, Chiniche concluded. Support for the center came in the form of a petition with 228 signatures, offering assistance to keep the center open. That response has made Jaycees redouble their efforts toward that end, the two young men told the council.

The council unanimously agreed to take the matter under consideration and pledged full support for the program. In other business, the council hired

Gus Mitchell as city dog catcher at a weekly salary of $50 and 10 cents per mile travel expenses if he uses his own vehicle. Members of the Bay-Waveland

Humane Society requested installation of a phone in the dog catcher's home to handle residents' complaint calls regarding stray or abused animals, as well as discussed fee changes for licenses and dog tags.

The council approved for public notice changes in dog pound fees which were adopted in April. The license fee was increased from $1 to $2, metal tags

Motel Clerk Robbed

Police are searching for three men, armed with a sawed-off shotgun, who robbed a Highway 90 motel clerk then fled, leaving her bound and gagged in a closet.

Mrs. Florence Goodsell, night manager of the Travelrest Motel in Waveland, told sheriff's deputies that three men, about 20 years old, entered the motel office at approximately 9 p.m. July 11.

They forced her at gunpoint to relinquish some $230 in bills from the 'cash register, refusing the loose change in the register. She was then bound and gagged with air conditioning tape, and placed in an office closet. Mrs. Goodsell said she was unable to see what kind of transportation they men left in.

City of Bay St. Louis Sanitation Department requests residents to please discontinue using litter barrels for depositing household garbage. Garbage in these containers is becoming a health hazard since they are not emptied as regularly as household garbage containers. Job Info Service Starts

Executive Director of the Governor's Office Education and Training, announced today that Mrs. Joyce Shuford has been added to the staff as coordinator of a new occupational information

Dr. Baxter previously had announced plans for the service, which he said will go into effect on August 1 and will be available to all callers. Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

He said anyone wanting information about education and manpower training programs anywhere in the state can get that information by calling Mrs. Shuford at that

Dr. Baxter said the idea was prompted by "a scarcity of readily available information on the many programs which exist in this state to upgrade a working man's education or to polish his skills." He added: "The people who need this information the most are usually the ones who have the least idea of how to go about getting it. We hope that the availability of this information, through out new service, will help people get the job training they're looking for. To my knowledge, this is the first time that this kind of informational service has been provided at one central location."

Dr. Baxter said Mrs. Shuford is "ideal for this important assignment, because for the past two school sessions, she coordinated a career information program-for the high schools in the Jackson Separate Municipal School District." Mrs. Shuford said that she will endeavor to make the assignment more than a dry recital over the telephone of the name and location of the. various career education and manpower training programs available throughout the

Mrs. Shuford said that no other state provides this kind of service, to her knowledge, so that Mississippi may be pioneering the idea. She said many agencies offer information in their respective. field, but the over-all view of

Sen. Eastland Reports

WASHINGTON--Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) today endorsed a bill limiting the term of the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Eastland said the tenure of the FBI's top officer should be limited to 10 years. with an extension of an additional 10 years following re-confirmation by the Senate.

"The FBI is the greatest investigative force in the world," the Senator said. "It has served as one of the greatest deterrents to crime in our history.

"It is important," said Eastland "that it be kept independent and free to perform its duties. In my opinion, this legislation would accomplish that purpose."

Eastland said his 16-member Judiciary Committee will hold hearings on the bill "in the near future" and he indicated that the action limiting the FBI director's term has widespread Eastland's committee must act on all legislation affecting the FBI, and Eastland last month steered to confirmation the nomination of Clarence M. Kelley, who became the first permanent successor to the late J. Edgar Hoover. Eastland attended Kelley's swearing-in ceremonies with President Nixon in Kansas City last week.

"It is my strong belief that this legislative proposal is a good one," the Senator said. "It would set up a 10 year term, which would give a new director adequate time to establish his policies and function as the head of the FBI without any type of interference."

Eastland said the legislation would also give the Senate the opportunity to reconfirm the director after the 10-year term. 'This will provide an effective check on any director, who, in the future, might be tempted to use the FBI for any irregular purpose." Eastland said the new set-up would allow the FBI to operate as an independent agency for all practical purposes while maintaining legislative control over it.

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

It's a Dutch treat to sample gevulde kalfsborst (stuffed breast of veal) in Holland. But every country has its favorite delicacies: Jamaica's stuffed lobster...Lebanon's yogurt pan-cakes... Portugal's ewe's milk cheeses. Here and in about 30 other countries, many Holiday Inns serve local specialties under the same roof with Continental and American cuisine.

quote Mr. Smith, "...a number of onions are called a rope, eggs a clutch, and bells a peal, savages a horde and angels a host." The loveliest grouping of all is of the larks which is called an exultation. Again, for no good reason, let us look at vocabularies. In a recent case, the mother of two girls who were sterilized didn't know what the word meant, and there was the young woman on t.v. who described a family as consisting of three small children, an adult and an adultress, whom she referred to as an "adulteress". Of course, every section of the country has its own type of pronunciation: the New Englander is known for his broad "a", the midwesterner for the slurring of his vowels, and the Southerner-well, it's pretty hard NOT to spot a Southerner with his soft drawl, the elision of many syllables, as in "po" for poor, and the invariable mispronunciation of the

The 1973 silly season is now well under weigh, and the most amazing example of ineptitude that we have observed is the confidence reposed in his White House associates by President Nixôn, especially his Special Counsel, Richard Moore. Some years ago we were associated, in a minor capacity, with Moore in his t.v. station in Los Angeles, and in all verity it must be said that he was a weak sister in every respect. Why the President would place confidence in the opinions of such a shallow individual is one of the mysteries of the current season. So, let us join with Shekspeare in his wish for a draft of mandrogora so that we might "sleep out this great gap of time", and take heart from the words of the philosopher who said, "Courage, mon ami, le diable est mort!"

But in recent years the law viewpoint has changed sharply. Today, almost everywhere, a child is entitled to collect damages for a prenatal injury that was inflicted negligently-at least, if it occurred during the later months of pregnancy.

As one court put it: A child has a legal right begin life with a sound mind an

Of course it is still necessary in establishing the child's claim, to prove there was a causal connection between the accident and the disability. Consider this case:

A baby was born with a deformed foot after his mother had been hurt in an auto collision. But medical experts said there was no reliable way of tracing the deformity to the accident. Accordingly, a court ruled that there were no grounds for holding the other motorist

Assuming that the child does have a legitimate claim, would it make any difference if the mother herself was partly to blame for the accident? That question arose in another auto case, in which the mother's own bad driving—as well as the other motorist's—had contributed to

But a court decided that the mother's negligence should not block her child's claim against the other motorist. The court thought it would be unfair, after giving the child a legal right, to take that right away because somebody else's error, Beatrice A. Everett, Carl A. Bielstein, Louie M. Ladner, Gertrude L. Tanner, James K. Fayard, Clyde L. Rogers, Peter B. Garcia, Louis L. Deceil.

Also serving were Elden R. Pennington, Robert A. Corr, John N. Mikovilje, Lawrence S. Ellis, Oliver W. Smith, Charles J. Davis, Annette H.

A motion was passed to advertise for bids to construct a 50 feet by 140 feet metal equipment barn on St. Francis St. behind Valena C. Jones building, to house and protect city equipment. The building which will be financed out of revenue sharing funds is needed.

Lombardo and Helen L. Ellis. George DiBenedetto was foreman of the jury.

In a three-day session, the July term grand jury named 14 persons in six indictments, all but one for narcotics charges. The fourteenth person, still at large, was indicted for murder and assault and battery with intent to kill. Indictments were brought against the following: Albert Guilliot, arrested March 12: 1973 for the unlawfulproduction of a controlled substance; Steve Johnson, William Pursley and

A low bid of $165 from Williams and Gordon was accepted for restoration work on a beachfront oak tree. Other bids received on the job were from Larry Turner for $175, and Melvin Burge for $200.

Rebecca Campbell, arrested April 1973 for possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver or sell; Norman Poindexter, arrested May 4, 1973 for the sale of a controlled substance.

Also named in one indictment for possession of a controlled substance following a June 23 arrest were John S. Amos, Segundo D. Labayen, Jeanette C. Bonck, Richard A. Wilson, Francis M. Thiele, Richard A. Blush, Shelley Ann Barberot and Wesley L. Mc-Farland, Jr.

The mayor's proposal to cancel a rental contract for a Xerox copy machine was accepted by motion of the council. The city has been paying $90 per month for four years for the machine which can't be purchased, Mayor Carver said, and he felt the capital outlay prohibitive. The city will retain for use another duplicator purchased by Operation Upturn.

Culvert Controversy Clarified

Clarification from the state attorney general's office on the effects of a July 5 state contract with Bayou Culvert Manufacturing, Inc. was discussed at a board of supervisors meeting Monday.

A letter to supervisors from Attorney General A.F. Summer stated that this office had received numerous requests for an opinion on the matter after the state Commission of Budget and Accounting entered into a contract with the Crowley, La. firm, establishing that firm's prices as maximum rates for metal pipe and culverts.

Boards of supervisors now operating under legitimate contracts with suppliers may continue to purchase from that supplier, Summer stated, until the existing contract expires. However, supervisors have a choice of continuing under the existing contract or buying from the Louisiana firm at the state price without advertising for bid. If the presently contracted supplier

Yacht Club; Bonton Roulette

Bay Waveland sailors and by Norman Lamb and Dick spectators turned out in great numbers for an action-packed week-end of sailing at Pass Christian Yacht Club's Annual Race Week Invitational Gulf Yachting Association Regatta. For Saturday's opening race 109 yachts sailed out to the starting line, although far fewer than that actually finished the race, as the wind rapidly increased to near gale force before the first class started. Some of the skippers exercised good judgment and returned to the harbor, but the majority of the crews donned life jackets and battled the elements in somewhat of a survival contest as they dodged overturned boats, broken and lost masts along the two round race course.

In the GYA-Flying Scot class, Bay Waveland's skipper Bubby Eagan and his crew, Marc and Ellen Eagan, were leading the first race when their boat capsized and was dis-masted, enabling Roy Troendle of Southern Yacht Club to finish first. The next day BWYC made the best possible comeback as they reentered the series with a new mast. Marc Eagan won the Sunday morning race with Ellen and Bubby Eagan crewing, and Chuck Breath. with crew Kay Kergosien and Bubby Eagan, won the Sunday afternoon event, giving Bay Waveland an overall third place to Southern Yacht Club's first and Pensacola Yacht Club's second.
